PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County man who filed paperwork in March declaring his intention to run for sheriff next year was arraigned Monday on drug-related offenses and is scheduled for a preliminary hearing today (Wednesday) in Johnson District Court.

John Kline, 42, of West Van Lear, is charged with multiple trafficking-related offenses.

Law enforcement officials arrested Kline Friday after an 18-month investigation during which undercover drug purchases were made. According to a press release issued by the Johnson County Sheriff's Office, the joint investigation was conducted by the sheriff's office, Operation UNITE, Kentucky State Police and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Kentucky State Police Post 9 public information officer Shawn Little said Tuesday that he wasn't completely sure when the case became an active investigation into the disappearance but that Johnson PRESTONSBURG — A preliminary hearing is scheduled July 17 in Floyd District Court for Jeffrey Blackburn, the son of Floyd County Sheriff John K. Blackburn, who was arrested June 29 after allegedly being involved in an assault and then striking a cruiser while trying to avoid arrest.

According to the police report, Prestonsburg police officer Brian Prater was responding to a complaint of an alleged assault in which the man responsible fled in a dark colored S-10 toward Ky. 114.

Prater said in the report that he met up with the vehicle matching the description at the intersection of Ky. 114, and the vehicle pulled out going east, disregarding the stop sign.

Prater said in the report that he activated his emergency equipment and caught up with the vehicle just before reaching the mouth of Spurlock and that Blackburn briefly accelerated and Prater slammed on his brakes to avoid striking the vehicle

LOUISA — A Lawrence County man charged with robbing the Inez Deposit Bank in Louisa June 14, making off with approximately $6,300 in cash, was extradited from West Virginia Friday and is scheduled for a preliminary hearing today (Wednesday) in Lawrence District Court.

James G. Stepp, 33, is charged with second-degree robbery and was apprehended by Charleston, W.Va., authorities shortly after his identity was released.

Kentucky State Police Public Information Officer Mike Murriell said in a news release that they were able to identify Stepp through the course of conducting interviews.

Murriell also said Stepp is from the Rt. 1690 area of Lawrence County.

None of the money taken during the robbery was recovered after his arrest, according to authorities.

According to the original news release issued following the robbery, Stepp didn't brandish a weapon but produced a note at approximately 2:55 p.m. June 14 asking an Inez Deposit Bank teller to give him money.

Stepp obtained an undisclosed

Meth found near Paintsville pool

PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County man arrested July 2 on drug-related offenses in connection with methamphetamine found near the Paintsville city pool is scheduled for a preliminary hearing in Johnson District Court today (Wednesday).

Charles A. Collier, 35, of Sitka, is charged with public intoxication, third-degree criminal trespass and complicity to manufacture methamphetamine.

According to the arrest report, Collier was arrested by Paintsville police officer P.D. Witten, who responded to a complaint through dispatch of a bottle under the front porch of a residence along 7th Street, across from the city swimming pool, with an unknown substance in it.

Upon his arrival, Witten observed the plastic bottle with what appeared to be active methamphetamine with lithium, salt and Coleman fuel, the report said.

Collier told Witten that he had the "meth cook bottle" in his possession and that he placed the item on the property so he could pick it up later, according to the report.

Collier also told the officer that he had been smoking marijuana earlier, and Witten noted in the report that Collier had fixed pupils and slurred speech.

Witten also said in the report that the property owner said Collier had no right to be on the property.

Collier was walking in the roadway when officers arrived, the report said.

Collier was lodged in the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Johnson County.

Kentucky Power PSC hearing today

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

FRANKFORT — Kentucky Power filed a stipulation and settlement agreement with the Kentucky Public Service Commission July 2 after it was accepted by two of three groups intervening in the asset transfer case filed by the company in December 2012.

The PSC will hold a hearing today (Wednesday) to decide whether or not to authorize the transfer of 50 percent ownership of two power generating units from AEP Ohio's Mitchell Power Plant to provide service when the Big Sandy Unit 2 is retired in 2015.

The hearing will also address a memorandum of understanding with the Sierra Club and others that AEP officials say is an effort to comply with environmental regulations but that will also reduce the cost of electricity to customers.

A press release issued by Kentucky Power July 2 said the settlement agreement establishes the basis for transferring the Mitchell assets onto Kentucky Power's books, outlines a recovery plan for the total investment in the assets, addresses future environmental compliance for Kentucky Power's Big Sandy Power Plant located near Louisa and outlines various initiatives to help Lawrence County and bordering counties after the retirement of Big Sandy Unit 2, which is scheduled for 2015.

Kentucky Power said in the release that the Sierra Club and Kentucky industrial Utilities customers have both accepted the agreement but that Attorney General Jack Conway has not agreed.

The agreement would establish an asset transfer rider to become effective Jan. 1, 2014, to collect $44 million annually to recover a portion of the investment in the Mitchell assets.

Kentucky Power filed a base rate case June 28, but according to its latest press release will file one in late 2014, with rates to become effective in mid-2015 to remove Big Sandy Unit 2 and the Big Sandy Unit 1 coal-related facilities from rates to allow for the recovery of the remaining portion of Mitchell Assets if the PSC agrees to approve the settlement agreement.

Kentucky Power said in its previous release that if the base rate case filed June 28 is approved by the PSC, a typical residential customer using 1,374 kilowatt hours of electricity per month would rise from the current price of $119.69 to $156.93, at an increase of 31 percent. But if the two mitigation measures also being considered are approved, the same customer would see a bill increase from $119.69 per month to $143.62, with the increase taking effect Jan. 1, 2014, the release said.

The latest release says the new settlement agreement would result in an estimated over increase of less than 8 percent on residential customers' bills and that a residential customer using an average of 1,374 kilowatt hours per month would see an increase on their bills of approximately $10 more.

"Kentucky Power is pleased to reach terms of this Settlement Agreement with two of the three intervening parties in this case. We hope the Commission will review this filing and agree that it is in the best interest of our ratepayers," Kentucky Power President and Chief Operating Officer Greg Pauley said in the release. "It definitely presents a more affordable way forward for our customers and allows us to meet our environmental obligations. While it does represent an increase in customer's rates of less than 8%, it is substantially less than the previous plan to install dry scrubbers."

In its latest release, Kentucky Power said that customers faced a 31 percent increase on their bill if they installed a dry scrubber system at Big Sandy Unit 2. But by using more recent kilowatt-hour sales information, the amount required to retrofit the Big Sandy Unit 2 with a dry scrubber only and without regard to other adjustments would have increased to 35 percent today, the release said.

As part of the settlement agreement, the company also agrees to maintain current base rates at least through May 31, 2015; provide economic development support for Lawrence County, where the Big Sandy Plant is located, and surrounding Kentucky counties in the amount of $100,000 per year for five years, which cannot be recovered from ratepayers; help fund energy management programs for schools and increase the amount it spends on demand side management (energy efficiency) programs; and convert Big Sandy Unit 1 from coal-fired generation to natural gas-fired generation, provided the cost of the conversion does not exceed approximately $60 million and is approved by the KPSC.

The company also agreed to increase its Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) contribution by 20 percent. Like Kentucky Power's $100,000-per-year economie development contribution under the settlement, its increased contribution to HEAP is not recoverable from customers.

The agreement would permit Kentucky Power to record on its books the approximate $536 million associated with acquiring 50 percent of the Mitchell Plant's 770-megawatt Unit 1 and 790- megawatt Unit 2, for a total of 780 megawatts, substantially replacing the Big Sandy Plant's 800-megawatt Unit 2.

Both Mitchell units are equipped with advanced environmental controls, including flue gas desulfurization systems (FGD) or "scrubbers," and meet all current EPA requirements. The other 50 percent ownership in both units would be transferred to Appalachian Power Company (APCO), another AEP subsidiary, pending approval of APCO's regulatory authorities.

JOHNSON: Floyd Co. attorney listed as missing has since been entered into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) as a missing person.

"The officer assigned to the case, KSP Trooper Clifton Royal, is from the same area and familiar with him and I know that he was out Friday following up on some leads, but at this point I have not been notified of anything new," Little said. "He is also being assisted by a detective. I am still waiting to hear from the officers."

A friend of Johnson, Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf, said he is doing all that he can to find him, including searching for an electronic signature, but as of Tuesday said he's found nothing.

"I hired a private detective to look for him," Pillersdorf said. "It's beyond comprehension that he would go and make no contact with any of his family or friends in that time. The Kentucky State Police are looking for him. He took clothes, money and his favorite dog, and told his wife he would see her later, then told his secretary that he was going fishing. He doesn't fish. He's still trying to deal with the recent death of his mother and he's been having financial problems. I don't think he did anything to harm himself, but there's been no word. There's people going to every campground in Kentucky looking for him."

Anyone with information regarding Johnson's disappearance or whereabouts is urged to contact KSP Post 9 at (606) 433-7711.

The operator turned left, striking the officer in the car, the report said, and the officer exited the vehicle. Blackburn then attempted to go around the vehicle but Prater ordered him to turn off his car and make his hands visible, according to the report.

Sgt. John Pack assisted Prater in getting Blackburn out of the vehicle, but he was uncooperative and resisted, and was detained and then transported to the Floyd County Detention Center by Dewey Meade.

Blackburn was released on a $2,500 bond with home incarceration.

Officers said that the cruiser suffered only minor damage and that nobody was seriously injured.

Blackburn was also arrested in March on a charge of public intoxication to which he entered a guilty plea and was sentenced to five days in jail.

The Louisa Police Department and the Lawrence County Sheriff's Office also responded to the scene to render assistance.

The case is still investigation by KSP Det. Jeff Kelley.

KLINE: Candidate for Johnson sheriff arrested

Kline, according to the release, was allegedly found to be “doctor shopping” in multiple states and is believed to be responsible for bringing thousands of pills into the region.

Agents of the participating agencies met with Price Thursday and again Friday to coordinate the buy/bust sting operation involving Kline, the release said.

“Kline entered a local business on Friday, July 5, and sold 100 Oxycodone 30’s for approximately $3,000 cash to a confidential informant,” the release said. “After the transaction, Kline exited the building where he was confronted by law enforcement agents. An initial search of Kline revealed that he was armed, which enhances the charges of Trafficking in a Controlled Substance. Agents of the Johnson County Sheriff’s Office had bought pills before from Kline while building their case, about 10 pills per purchase, which is enough to qualify each transaction as a felony.”

When executed, a search warrant issued for Kline’s residence in West Van Lear resulted in the discovery of 100 pills, $400 in cash, and 18 firearms, which included 16 pistols and two long guns, the release said.

Kline is currently facing multiple trafficking charges in federal court and is currently being held in the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in lieu of a $50,000 cash-only bond.

Price said on his Facebook page that Kline’s arrest will ensure thousands of pills will no longer be trafficked through Johnson County.

“This was an 18-month investigation and one that we knew would put a mid-level dealer in jail,” Price said on his Facebook page. “Due to the number of felonies, this will become a Federal case. We will continue to arrest the drug dealers, the doctor shoppers, the thieves and other criminal elements that reside in Johnson County. We have done a lot of good work thanks to community involvement and concerned citizens. Together, we’ll continue to work toward a safer Johnson County.”

Price also urges anyone with information on criminal activity in Johnson County to contact his office at (606) 789-3411.

Election records show that Kline filed a statement of candidacy for the Democratic nomination for sheriff in the Johnson County Clerk’s Office on March 4. County-wide elections will be held in 2014.

Feds temporarily shut Floyd mine

ARLINGTON, Va. — A recent report says that federal mine inspectors temporarily closed a Floyd County mine in May due to various violations.

The U.S. Department of Labor's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) announced last week that federal inspectors issued 186 citations and nine orders during special impact inspections conducted at nine coal mines and five metal/nonmetal mines last month.

The monthly inspections, which began in force in April 2010 following the explosion at the Upper Big Branch Mine, involve mines that merit increased agency attention and enforcement due to their poor compliance history or particular compliance concerns. These matters include high numbers of violations or closure orders; frequent hazard complaints or hotline calls; plan compliance issues; inadequate workplace examinations; a high number of accidents, injuries or illnesses; fatalities; adverse conditions such as increased methane liberation, faulty roof conditions and inadequate ventilation; and respirable dust.

MSHA conducted an impact inspection during the May 8 evening shift at Tram Energy LLC #1 in Floyd County, during which inspectors issued 23 citations and six unwarrantable failure orders, according to the MSHA. These include mining without required dust controls in place, failure to conduct adequate belt examinations, damaged conveyor belt structure and accumulations of combustible materials.

On May 21, an additional 104(d)(2) order was issued for failure to conduct adequate examinations of the electrical mining equipment. As a result, the entire underground portion of the mine was shut down until May 30.

The mine's ventilation plan requires a minimum air velocity of 4,000 cubic feet per minute where coal is being cut to direct dust away from miners, a press release said. MSHA found a coal-cutting machine operating with no air movement and no line curtain to control airflow, the release said, and visible float dust was observed suspended in the air. These conditions exposed miners to a "potential explosion and increased their risk of developing black lung and other respiratory diseases," the release said.

The mine operator failed to conduct "adequate pre-shift examinations prior to permitting miners underground," the release said. MSHA cited hazardous conditions that should have been recognized by an adequate examination, including missing cones to mark an intersection of rail track, failure to maintain a refuge alternative within 1,000 feet of the working face, no sign indicating a door in the primary escapeway, and accumulations of combustible materials, according to the release.

Combustible materials, including loose coal, coal, coal and float dust, and debris, were under and in the adjacent entries and crosscuts along the entire length of the #1 belt conveyor and on the roof, ribs, floor and electrical installations along the #2 belt conveyor for three crosscuts, the release said. Hazardous conditions on the #1 conveyor belt flight were neither recorded in the record book nor corrected, the release said.

The mine has been cited 32 times for similar violations over the past two years, according to the MSHA. Violations also were issued pertaining to the mine's approved emergency response plan, the press release said, and the communications and tracking system required to track the locations of miners in the event of a mine emergency was not functioning.

"While statistics on compliance with regulations and fatality and injury rates show mine safety is moving in the right direction, not all mines are cooperating," said Joseph A. Main, assistant secretary of labor for mine safety and health. "The conditions our inspectors observed at Tram Energy LLC #1, which resulted in the closure of the mine for more than three weeks, demonstrated a complete disregard for the health and safety of miners and for safe mining practices."

Since April 2010, MSHA has conducted 616 impact inspections and issued 10,483 citations, 970 orders and 44 safeguards.

Schools merge

BSN Staff Report

PRESTONSBURG — South Floyd high and middle schools will become one following recent action by the Floyd County Board of Education.

Floyd County school superintendent Henry Webb said in a press release that the board voted at its June meeting to combine the two schools.

Webb said the board was to be "commended as this combination can only impact student learning in a positive manner."

"We made this decision based on our belief that having one leadership team will increase efficiency in areas such as vertical articulation, use of facilities and the daily management of the school," Webb said in the press release. "While there now will only be one South Floyd, students in 6th-8th grade will remain housed on the second floor, somewhat separate from high school students as they have always been."

Webb said site-based councils from South Floyd High and South Floyd Middle schools will be abolished and one new council will be formed.

"However, staffing changes will be minimal and mainly revolve around modifications in roles," Webb said.

VPO to open

OIL SPRINGS — The Kentuckiana District of the U.S. Postal Service will welcome its newest Village Post Office (VPO) July 17 in Oil Springs, marking the 38th VPO to open in the district this year.

The latest VPO is located at Oil Springs Superette, 8085 Ky. 40 West, where a ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at 10 a.m.

The Postal Service unveiled the VPO concept in the spring of 2012 for consideration in communities where there is no existing post office or where the post office will have reduced hours. VPOs were established in response to the changing mailing needs of the American consumer as more and more customers demand easier, more convenient access to postal products and services where conducting business in their communities.

VPOs are designed for non-Postal Service establishments and are a throwback to post offices of old where local shops housed them and patrons would do one-stop shopping and postal services under the same roof. VPOs in the Kentuckiana District are located in grocery, hardware and convenient stores, gas stations and a trophy engraving shop.

The Postal Service acknowledged the contributions of Oil Springs Superette owner Samuel Reed, who helped to make the Oil Springs VPO possible. Business establishments interested in applying for a contract with the Postal Service to start a Village Post Office in their local community should contact vpo.inquiry@usps.gov.

ADAM H. EDELEN AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable John Osborne, Lawrence County Judge / Executive
The Honorable Garrett Roberts, Lawrence County Sheriff
Members of the Lawrence County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the Sheriff of Lawrence County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2012, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting as described in Note 1. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Sheriff on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Sheriff, as of December 31, 2012, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material aspects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Sheriff for the year ended December 31, 2012, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.

5 tricks every computer user needs to know

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

In a perfect digital world, you could sit down at any computer or pick up any gadget and just use it. There wouldn't be a learning curve or workarounds. Unfortunately, that's never going to happen. With all due respect to the late Mr. Jobs, even Apple products don't always "just work."

Little problems and annoyances will pop up when you least expect it. That's why I've rounded up these 5 tricks. Keep them in the back of your mind and they'll get you out of the eventual jam.

1. Retrieve a memory card from a CD slot

Speaking of jams, let's start with one of my favorites. Slot-loaded CD/DVD/Blu-ray drives are sleek and stylish. Unfortunately, it's easy to accidentally jam non-disc items in there.

One of the most common objects is SD memory cards. This happens frequently for iMac users. After all, the DVD and memory card slots are right next to each other. However, it can happen with CompactFlash slots as well. And I'm sure someone's put a microSD card in an SD card slot.

The big question is how you get the card back out. In some cases, with the power off tweezers work just fine. However, with a slot-loaded CD drive, you don't have the room.

Instead, use non-corrugated cardboard. Cut it into the shape of an "L" and put the short end into the slot. Rotate the L so the short end gets behind the card, and then pull. Simple!

2. Recover photos from a damaged card

While we're on the subject of SD cards, let's talk about photos. A new, high-capacity SD card - smaller than a postage stamp - can hold thousands and thousands of photos. It's a photographer's dream!

Of course, if the card breaks, it becomes a photographer's nightmare. That's why I recommend taking a number of smaller SD cards on a trip. If one breaks or gets lost, you haven't lost as many photos.

Then there are times when a memory card just goes haywire. You put it in the computer and it shows up blank, it's corrupt or just missing files.

If your card reader isn't broken and the card isn't externally damaged, you have a bad card. But hope is not lost.

Grab a free photo recovery program. Zero Assumption Recovery and Recuva are two good ones.

Tip inside of a tip: These free file recover programs find hidden or deleted items on memory cards. You can use them to recover files on flash drives and hard drives as well.

After a scan, you might see your photos and other missing files. When you recover the files, be sure to save them to your hard drive. Don't try to save them to the memory card!

Not only is the card dying, you'll overwrite the files you're trying to recover. Trust me; it doesn't end well.

3. Zoom in on websites quickly

You bought a new computer and it came with a big high-resolution monitor. Now the text on your favorite websites is way too small!

Fortunately, your browser has zoom shortcuts. In every major browser, pressing Control in Windows (Command for Macs) and then tapping the PRESTONSBURG — It has been nearly 20 years since Annie Rosenberg-Sattich lived in Prestonsburg and attended the local community college, but it was those early years that provided her with the foundation — both personal and professional — that would serve her well as she experienced life's challenges and successes.

Rosenberg-Sattich became a resident of Prestonsburg when she was adopted as an infant by Jean and John Rosenberg, well-known community organizers and activists. She progressed through childhood but stumbled in high school when she found she needed a different learning environment that would offer smaller classes and more individualized attention. She found such an environment at The David School and again at Prestonsburg Community College, now Big Sandy Community and Technical College.

The community college enabled her to focus in on the classes that really interested her, and she immersed herself as much as possible in early childhood education and psychology classes. There, she encountered two teachers who would significantly impact her life, Debra Massengale and Dr. Bill Loftus.

Both of those teachers "were of a caliber that no one ever exceeded, even throughout graduate school," Rosenberg-Sattich noted. "They gave me my foundation."

To this day she still has a small plaque Massengale gave her for graduation that contained a statement about taking the road less traveled.

After graduating from the community college, Rosenberg-Sattich transferred to Morehead State University, where she completed a bachelor's degree in psychology before transferring on to the University of Louisville and the Kent School of Social Work, where she obtained a master's degree.

Louisville would then become her home as she secured a position with Louisville Diversified Services, which offered vocational services and visual and performing arts programs for adults with disabilities. For five years she served as program director and then another eight as president.

Rosenberg-Sattich was on top of the world. She had met and married her husband, Steve Sattich, a driver for the Yellow Roadway Corporation, and was president of an organization that made a difference in people's lives. Everything was perfect and then, suddenly, it wasn't.

In spring 2010, at the age of 36, Rosenberg-Sattich found a spot on her breast. As a healthy young woman, she didn't think too much about it and didn't even get in to see her doctor for a few months to check it out. Her doctor wasn't terribly alarmed either, but the spot just kept getting bigger, so some tests were ordered.

Rosenberg-Sattich was diagnosed with an invasive, aggressive breast cancer in what she described as a "needle off the record moment."

"We think in the future all the time," Rosenberg-Sattich noted, and then you get a diagnosis like this and "everything in the future blanks out and you are faced with something that you're not experienced with."

"Professionally, I knew how to run an organization, raise money, and work with a board," Rosenberg-Sattich said, "but then you get a cancer diagnosis and initially you just feel uncertain and helpless."

Due to her young age and the aggressiveness of the cancer, she had to go through an equally aggressive year's worth of treatment that included radiation, chemotherapy and surgery.

Cancer free for three years now, Rosenberg-Sattich has had a chance to reflect upon that difficult time in her life and the lessons learned.

"I have to say that the experience was a turning point for me as an individual and really gave me the opportunity to look at things and see things I wouldn't have noticed and to learn a lesson I wouldn't have thought of," she said.

"I look at cancer like a teacher and one of the things that it taught me was getting back to myself and being more of who I truly am and not wasting time. I wouldn't have had that sort of awakening if it hadn't been for the experience," she said. "I'm grateful for what it taught me."

Today, Rosenberg-Sattich works with children and adults as a therapist at a community mental health center. "I'm better able to go with the flow," she said, and expresses an interest in adding a teaching element to her professional life where she can offer wellness workshops and lessons on mind-body connections.

"I really enjoy looking at a combination of east and west wellness models and would like to share some of the information that I've learned," she said.

While undergoing the western cancer treatments of radiation, chemotherapy and surgery, Rosenberg-Sattich also explored other more eastern treatments, including the use of visualization, self-hypnosis, acupuncture and massages. From her personal experience, Rosenberg-Sattich believes the eastern treatments complemented the western treatments and helped her as a patient to the point that "I had a really amazing, almost spontaneous remission" in which the large breast tumor disappeared between a first and second chemotherapy session. In fact, the tumor was completely gone when doctors performed surgery to remove it. There were no cancer cells or scar tissue where the tumor had been located.

Blessedly cancer free, Rosenberg-Sattich can now look forward to the future, while also cherishing the support and love she has been gifted by her parents, Jean and John Rosenberg.

"One of the reasons that I really think I've been able to have such a great life and do the things I love is because of my parents," Rosenberg-Sattich reflected. "They have always been the shining example of doing what one loves and loving life all the time. They are so good-hearted and they are an example of unconditional giving. Growing up with them and seeing their example has been part of my fabric as a person and I'm so glad they are still here."

Shiber earns OB/GYN degree

Dr. Linda-Dalal Shiber, a 2001 Paintsville High School graduate, recently received her degree in obstetrics and gynecology (OB/GYN) after completing a four-year residency at MetroHealth Medical Center & Cleveland Clinic, in Cleveland, Ohio.

She is the 2013 recipient of the Cleveland Maternal Fetal Medicine Society Award and second-place winner of the 2013 Cleveland Society of Obstetricians & Gynecologists' Resident Research Award for her research on Venereal Disease Research Laboratory (VDRL) testing during pregnancy.

Among Shiber's other accolades are the 2012-2013 MetroHealth/Cleveland Clinic Excellence Awards in Research and Community Service in OB/GYN, the Resident Achievement Award from the Society of Laparoscopic Surgeons, and the Special Resident in Advancing Minimally Invasive Gynecology award from the American Association of Gynecologic Laparoscopists (AAGL). Shiber returns to Kentucky this month to take up a two-year fellowship in laparoscopic surgery and robotics at University of Louisville, where she earned her medical degree in 2009.

She is the daughter of John and Elaine Shiber of Van Lear.

plus sign zooms in. Go too far? Control and the minus sign zooms out. Love this!

Want to go back to where you started? Control and 0 (that's a zero) puts it back to the default zoom level.

This way you can adjust every site you use to your individual taste. It will save your eyes and your sanity.

4. Use private browsing Let's stay on browsers for a moment. Did you know your browser records everything you do?

It isn't just your search history, cookies and passwords, it saves images and code to a special cache for later use. Anyone who knows what they're looking for can see what you've been up to.

That's why the latest version of every major browser has a privacy mode. This stops your browser from recording things.

You can find private browsing mode in your browser's menu options. In Chrome it's called incognito mode. In most browsers, you can just use the shortcut Control + Shift + P. Again, Chrome is different, with Control + Shift + N.

Unfortunately, this doesn't always stop the browser from creating a cache. To clear that out, you can poke around the browser's options menu, or you can grab a third-party cleaner like CCleaner.

5. Take a screenshot Need to show something computer-related to a distant friend or family member? Want to capture an error code for tech support? A screenshot is the solution.

As the name implies, it creates an image of your screen. And it isn't hard to do.

The easiest way to do this is with keyboard shortcuts. In Windows, just hit the Print Screen button the keyboard (sometimes this is abbreviated as Prnt Scrn or in other ways). This saves the entire screen to the Windows clipboard. You can then paste it into an email or a graphics program.

On a Mac, Command + Shift + 3 takes a screenshot of the entire screen and saves it to the desktop. Command + Shift + 4 does the same thing, but you can select what area of the screen is captured.

Of course, sometimes you need a bit more control. Or perhaps you want to annotate the screenshot for the person receiving it.

In Windows Vista and up, go to Start >> All Programs >> Accessories and select the Snipping Tool. Click the upside-down triangle next to the New button to select Rectangular Snip. Then click and drag the red box over what you want to capture.

This will save a file you can edit, or you can paste the image right into an email. For Windows XP, you can use a third-party tool like Greenshot.

On a Mac, open Preview. Either go to Finder>>All Applications>>Preview or go to Spotlight, type in "Preview" and click the icon.

Go to File>>Take New Screenshot. Choose your screenshot type and go to town. You can add text, arrows and circles using the Edit Toolbar (View>>Show Edit Toolbar).

Once you're done, save it as an image and send it.

Feel smarter now? You should. You have the answers to common tech dilemmas.

ADAM H. EDELEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable John Osborne, Lawrence County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Chris Jobe, Lawrence County Clerk
Members of the Lawrence County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Clerk of Lawrence County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2012, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of this financial statement in accordance with financial reporting provisions prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate copliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting as described in Note 1. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of a financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Clerk on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Clerk, as of December 31, 2012, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material aspects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2012, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated May 17, 2013 on our consideration of the Lawrence County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Lawrence County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting or compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

Respectfully submitted,
Adam H. Edelen

TARIFF S.S.C.
(System Sales Clause)

RATE.

The Company has modified this provision in the tariff to update the calculation of the System Sales Adjustment Factor as follows:

1. When the monthly net revenues from system sales are above or below the monthly base net revenues from system sales, as provided in paragraph 3 below, an additional credit or charge equal to the product of the KWHs and a system sales adjustment factor (A) shall be made, where “A”, calculated to the nearest 0.0001 mill per kilowatt-hour, is defined as set forth below.

For the period beginning January 2014 through the end of the month in which Big Sandy Unit 2 ends commercial operation, the monthly System Sales Adjustment Factor shall be the following:

System Sales Adjustment Factor (A) = (1.24Tb+0.6[Tm-2.24Tb])/Sm

For all months following the month in which Big Sandy Unit 2 ends commercial operation, the monthly System Sales Adjustment Factor shall be the following:

System Sales Adjusment Factor (A) = (0.6 [Tm - Tb])/Sm

In the above formulas “T” is Kentucky Power company’s (KPCo) monthly net revenues from system sales in the current (m) and base (b) periods, and “S” is the KWH sales in the current (m) period, all defined below.

The Company has revised this provision in the tariff to read as follows:

2. The net revenue from KPCo’s sales as reported in the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission’s Uniform System of Accounts under Account 447, Sales for Resale, shall consist of and be derived as follows:

- a. KPCo’s total revenues from system sales as recorded in Account 447, less b. and c. below.
- b. KPCo’s total out-of-pocket costs incurred in supplying the power and energy for the sales in a. above.

The out-of-pocket costs include all operating, maintenance, tax, transmission losses and other expenses that would not have been incurred if the power and energy had not been supplied for such sales, including demand and energy charges for power and energy supplied by Third Parties.

- c. KPCo’s environmental costs allocated to non-associated utilities in the Company’s Environmental Surcharge Report.

3. The base monthly net revenues from system sales are as follows:

The PJM Rider adjustment factor shall be determined as follows:

Adjustment Factor = $\frac{PJMD \times CP_{Class}}{BE_{Class} \times CP_{Total}}$ + $\frac{PJME}{BE_{Total}}$

Where:

1. “PJMD” is the actual annual PJM demand-related net costs (over)/under; calculated by comparing the amount of PJM demand-related net costs in base rates to those PJM demand-related net costs actually incurred during the review period.

2. "PJM" is the actual annual PJM energy-related net costs (over)/under; calculated by comparing the amount of PJM energy-related net costs in base rates to those PJM energy-related net costs actually incurred during the review period.
3. "BE_{Class}" is the historic annual retail jurisdictional billing KWH for each tariff class for the current year.
4. "CP_{Class}" is the coincident peak demand for each tariff class estimated as follows:

Tariff Class (1)	BE _{Class} (2)	CP/KWH Ratio (3)	CP _{Class} (4)=(2)x(3)

1. "BE_{Total}" is the sum of the BE_{Class} for all tariff classes.
2. "CP_{Total}" is the sum of the CP_{Class} for all tariff classes.

The adjustment factor as computed above shall be further modified to allow the recovery of uncollectible accounts expense, the Commission Assessment pursuant to KRS 278.130, and other similar revenue based taxes and charges occasioned by the PJM Rider adjustment revenues.

The adjustment factor as calculated above will be applied to all billing kilowatt-hours for those tariff classes listed above.

The annual PJM Rider factor shall be filed with the Commission thirty (30) days before it is scheduled to go into effect, along with all necessary supporting data to justify the amount of the adjustments which shall include data and information as may be required by the Commission.

1. The purchase power adjustment shall provide for monthly adjustments based on a percent of revenues, equal to the net costs of any power purchases in the current period according to the following formula:

Monthly Purchase Power Adjustment Factor = $\frac{\text{Net KY Retail P(m)}}{\text{KY Retail R(m)}}$

Where:

Net KY Retail P(m) = Monthly P(m) allocated to Kentucky Retail Customers, net of Over/(Under) Recovery Adjustment; Allocation based on Percentage of Kentucky Retail Revenues to Total Company Revenues in the Expense Month (m). (For purposes of this formula, Total Company Revenues include only Retail and Full-Requirements Wholesale revenues.)

KY Retail R(m) = Kentucky Retail Revenues for the Expense Month (m).
2. The net costs of any power purchases shall exclude costs recovered through the Fuel Adjustment Clause and shall be computed as the sum of the following items:

a. PPA(m) = The cost of power purchased by the Company through new Purchase Power Agreements (PPAs) less the net energy cost of such power purchases.
b. RP(m) = The cost of fuel related substitute generation less the cost of fuel which would have been used in plants suffering forced generation or transmission outages.
c. CM(m) = The contract management fee equal to a percentage (equal to the Company's most recently approved weighted average cost of capital) of PPA(m).

Monthly P(m) = PPA(m) + RP(m) + CM(m)
3. The monthly purchase power adjustment shall be filed with the Commission ten (10) days before it is scheduled to go into effect, along with all the necessary supporting data to justify the amount of the adjustment, which shall include data, and information as may be required by the Commission.

EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGE IN CUSTOMER RATES

If approved as filed, the Company's proposed changes to its rates and tariffs will result in a proposed annual increase in electric revenues for Kentucky Power of approximately 23.39%. Kentucky Power's proposal includes a proposed Transmission Adjustment Tariff which adjusts customers' charges based upon the wholesale cost of transmission. If that adjustment is not approved, and the remainder of the application is approved as filed, Kentucky Power's proposed annual increase in electric revenues will be approximately 24.17%.

The estimated annual revenue increase per customer class, with and without the proposed Transmission Adjustment Tariff, is as follows:

KHSAA distributes more than $33k in royalties to member schools

LEXINGTON — Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) member schools benefitted in the third year of a royalty program with the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) and Licensing Resource Group (LRG), a trademark licensing company with nearly 20 years of experience managing trademark licensing programs for more than 150 colleges and universities, athletic conferences and athletic organizations nationwide.

The program was created to help the KHSAA's 280 member schools collect revenues from royalties collected on merchandise sold at local and national retailers featuring the NFHS logo. The officially licensed hang tags, a creation of LRG similar to hang tags that appear on collegiate merchandise, are individually numbered and track the sale of each apparel item, as well as where it originated. Nationally, the program distributed more than $1 million in profits in the first year. The KHSAA distributed $33,682.33 to its member schools following the 2012-13 school year in more than 240 separate distribution checks.

"While there is no doubt these are challenging economic times for our member schools, we are excited to give them another revenue source; however, large or small, they can use to support their extra-curricular programs," said KHSAA Commissioner Julian Tackett. "While the royalty amounts vary by school, we are more than pleased with the way things went and we only expect it to increase as more retailers come on board. And the exciting piece for the membership is that by signing the non-exclusive agreement to participate in the program, they get the help of LRG in enforcing local school marks, and help in making sure their own marks don't infringe on existing trademarks. Intellectual property is serious business and the folks at LRG are experts we are glad that we can partner with in order to help our schools."

National retailers and regional retailers who belong to the LRG program include Wal-Mart, Walgreens, Lids, Meijer, Dollar General, Hibbett Sports, Dick's Sporting Goods, Dunham's Sports and Kroger.

Wells to perform at Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The 2013 Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City

Katherine Wells

will feature a performance by more than 700 cheerleading and dance team members representing Varsity Spirit.

This will be the 18th year that Varsity Spirit has teamed up with Spirit of America Productions to give this opportunity to cheerleaders and dance team members who qualified at summer camps across the country. Spirit of America hosts two featured performances in the parade.

Cheerleaders and dancers from across the country are invited to perform a nationally televised, showcased performance live on NBC each Thanksgiving in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, one of the most celebrated parades in the world.

Katherine Wells, senior cheerleader at Johnson Central High School, has been invited to perform as part of Varsity's group. The group will spend the week before Thanksgiving in New York City sightseeing and rehearsing for its performance on Thanksgiving Day. This year's cheerleaders and dancers will show their spirit along the streets of Manhattan from Central Park West and 78th Street down to 34th and Seventh Avenue. The parade culminates in Herald Square with a televised performance of the spirited routine they have spent the week rehearsing.

Outstanding cheerleaders and dancers from Universal Cheerleaders Association, Universal Dance Association, National Cheerleaders Association, National Dance Alliance and United Spirit Association include team captains and standout performers who attended summer camp. All camp companies are member organizations of Varsity, the largest cheerleading and dance team organization in the world.

Wells is the daughter of Frank and Janie Wells of Paintsville and is coached by Johnson Central varsity cheerleading coach Anita Sturgill.

NFHS rules committee includes 'backswing interference'

INDIANAPOLIS — Changes to high school baseball rules will include an additional example of how a batter can interfere with the catcher's ability to field or throw.

This year's rules changes were approved by the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) Baseball Rules Committee at its June 2-4 meeting in Indianapolis. The rules changes were subsequently approved by the NFHS Board of Directors.

"The committee felt that the game is in a very good state," said Elliot Hopkins, NFHS director of sports and educational services and staff liaison for baseball.

The committee voted to add "including backswing interference" to Rule 7-3-5c to address that specific type of batter interference. The rule now reads, "A batter shall not interfere with the catcher's fielding or throwing by making any other movement, including backswing interference, which hinders action at home plate or the catcher's attempt to play on a runner.

The committee also revised Rule 6-1-3 to state that the pitcher's entire pivot foot must be in contact with or directly in front of and parallel to the pitcher's plate.

The committee also established several points of emphasis for the 2014 season, including malicious contact, coaching attire and umpire authority and enforcement.

"These are topics that I get calls and e-mails about during the course of a season," Hopkins said. "I share those with the committee and if they are seeing the same types of problems, then the red flag goes up."

Contact or a collision is considered to be malicious if:

The contact is the result of intentional excessive force;

The contact occurs close to the bag or home plate or above the waist of the receiving player; or

There was intent to injure.

Malicious contact can occur without these conditions if determined by the umpire, but these provide a starting point.

Even with cutbacks for uniform funds, coaches should still be dressed in a similar fashion to the players as a means of helping umpires recognize members of the coaching staff.

The final point of emphasis deals with umpires' authority. The committee noted that coaches must set the example of appropriate behavior so the team and its fans can follow.

Disputing the umpire's calls, failing to comply with an umpire's command, exaggerating the time for offensive conferences, gamesmanship and challenging the umpire's authority cannot be tolerated, the committee stated.

"We want coaches to be role models for civility," Hopkins said. "The umpire has to make a final decision and the coach has to handle it with class and character."

Baseball is the fourth-most popular sport for boys at the high school level, according to the 2011-12 NFHS Athletics Participation Survey, with 474,219 participants nationwide. The sport ranks third in school sponsorship with 15,838 schools offering the sport.

New rules regarding electronic devices approved in high school softball

INDIANAPOLIS — Two new rules regarding the use of electronic devices in high school softball were among the five changes approved by the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) Softball Rules Committee at its June 10-12 meeting in Indianapolis.

All rules changes were subsequently approved by the NFHS Board of Directors.

With the addition of Rule 1-8-6, team personnel are permitted to use electronic devices to transmit or record information pertaining to their players' or team's performances. This is to be done only in the team's bench or dugout areas, and the information obtained may be used for coaching purposes during the game.

"The committee felt that with the advancement of technology, it was time to allow electronic devices to be used," said Theresa Wynns, NFHS director of sports and officials education and staff liaison for softball. "It focused on what was good for softball and that the devices could be a useful tool to aid in coaching."

According to Rule 3-6-11, information obtained by electronic devices shall not be used to review decisions made by the umpires.

Wynns said that the committee strongly opposed the use of information obtained by the electronic devices to dispute an umpire about a specific call on the field.

"The committee did not want to give teams a competitive advantage," she said. "It also did not want to hamper the progress of the game."

In other changes, the committee established definitions for "team members" and "team personnel."

Team members are players listed on the team's roster and lineup as submitted to the umpire at the pregame meeting. Team personnel consist of all school representatives located in the team dugout, including but not limited to coaches, managers, certified athletic trainers and scorekeepers.

The committee also revised Rule 1-5-2c by eliminating "smooth" from the description of the taper, noting that not all bats have smooth tapers.

Fast-pitch softball is the fifth-most popular sport for girls at the high school level, according to the 2011-12 NFHS Athletics Participation Survey, with 367,023 participants nationwide. The sport ranks fourth in school sponsorship with 14,142 schools offering the sport.
